

Of a Night So Calm

Of a night so calm,
mine eyes did gaze
upon the many stars
The sky, darker than a raven's wings
The night, a painting of tranquility

Of a night so calm,
the sound of silence
did grace mine ears
The world was still,
as were my thoughts

Of a night so calm,
the moon did glow
like an opulent pearl
in the nighttime sky I swayed under her celestial light
I waltzed with the whispers of the wind

Of a night so calm,
my rest was pleasant Peace was a blanket
of warmth for my soul Bliss was a ribbon wrapped around my thoughts
And stars did shine across the skies of my dreams

Never before was a night of mine
so delightful Never before had I been immersed in wonder more poetic than the words of a psalm Never before had mine eyes gazed upon a panorama of such beauty Never before had I an idyllic reminiscence

of a night so calm